4TH PARAGRAPHRights, Obligations and Privileges of Registered Societies

Society is a
Corporate body

20. Upon registration of a society that society should accrue the personality of a corporation with the right under its name to have Perpetual succession with a Common seal to possess property, to enter into agreements and to have recourse to law and to be prosecuted with the right to forward matters in its defense, and with powers to attend to all matters for which the corporative society was established.

Selling goods to the society of
through society

- 21 (1). A society that has the sale of livestock, agricultural or an item, produced by an industry, as one of its objectives, may include provisions in its constitution or reach an agreement with its members to say that;

(a) every member of the society who produces such items should dispose the entirety or an agreed part, proportion of that produce or brand through the society and

(b) member who is deemed, or proven to have violated the society constitution or an agreement entered in to, according to the rules of this precept, should pay to the society an amount determined and assessed in proportion to the loss sustained by the society as a result of that violation.

However, it is possible for a member to cause changes in the provisions of the constitution in this regard, or come to an agreement with among the members of the society

- (2) A registered society, in keeping with clause (1) above, should enter into an agreement that is to the society's advantage with regard to goods produced or about to be and likely to be produced.

- (3) The legal implications arising out of clause (1) above, should not be construed by any member of a registered society as an 'embargo on trade and industrial produce'.

- (4) If a member of a registered society by reason of an agreement he/she has entered into prior to becoming a member, continues to dispose his produced to an outsider in keeping with that agreement, such disposal should not be considered as a violation of a clause in the constitution of the society that makes it mandatory for the member to sell produce to the society.

- (5) In this respect, if a society requires a member to disclose all agreements he has entered in to, before he became a member, at the time he becomes a member, in his membership application, that member should accordingly comply with the requirement of the society.

Instances of mandatory
sale of goods through the

- 22 (1) In the event where a registered society is covering a certain area, province or district within the southern provincial council by selling a particular produce made by the members of that society and where the Minister concerned is satisfied that such produce is being made in the area, the Minister may by an order, require a particular producer of those items in the area, irrespective of whether he/ she is a member or not of the society, to hand over such part of their produce, after taking over the part of the produce that he/ she requires for his own consumption, to the society.

- (2) Any such order that the Minister may decide to make under clause (1) above, should be published in the Gazette and carry specific details of the particular product, the area in which the order is to be carried out, and the basis of payment to the producer of that product.
- (3) All such orders should be effective from the date such orders are published in the Gazette notification and should be in force until rescinded according to the provisions of clause (5) herein.
- (4) All such orders, after coming in to effect should be forwarded to the Southern Provincial Council for ratification.
- (5) Any such order that is declined to be approved by the Southern provincial council should be considered as an order rescinded and it should not have an impact on any activity permitted between the day of the order and the day rescinded. The day the ratification of the order is declined by the Southern Provincial Council should be considered as the day the order was rescinded and such rescinded date should be published in the gazette notification.
- (6) (a) By an order gazetted by the Minister (Hereinafter known as the amended order), the Minister could change any order at any time gazetted under clause (1) before. Thus, every amended order should be effective from the date it is published in the gazette notification.

(b) An amended order that has changed an order made under clause (1) above, should last a period of time that the first subject order could have lasted, if it had not been amended, and not any further than that

(c) Every mended order should be forwarded to the Southern Provincial Council for Ratification. Yet however, if an amendment made under clause (1) above is further amended by an amendment or amendments before the original amendment is forwarded to the Southern Provincial Council under clause (4), the forwarded amendment should include the changes effected by all the amendments listed and in such a situation forwarding all the amendments one by one to the Southern Provincial council may not be necessary.

(d) The declining to approve an order for amendment forwarded to the Southern Provincial Council under clause (1) should be considered as the termination of that amendment order and with regard to such amendments that have been declined, the activities should move forward from that date of such termination as if no amendment order has been received.

(e) The Minister could subsequently withdraw an amendment order made under clause (1) and in the event of such a withdrawal, that fact should be published in the Gazette and would be effective from the date that is so published.
- (7) All amendment orders sanctioned by the Southern Provincial Council should be treated as enacted, valid and in force here.
- (8) All notifications published in the Gazette under this article should be published with the signature of the Minister.

- (9) In the event where the provisions of a directions made under this article is considered contradictory with provisions of certain other existing legislation such contradiction should have no bearing on the implementation of this particular direction during the period prescribed in the direction as the provisions of this precept should supersede any other provisions.
- (10) Any producer of goods who is not a member of a registered society, but his produce has been sold by a registered society under an order made by clause (1) above, should abide by the conditions and obligations of the society for that particular sale, just as a member of the society would in the course of the transaction.
- (11) In the event where an order is made under clause (1) above, to sell the products of a certain producer who is not a member of the society and when that producer has made an application to be admitted as a member of the society:
- (a) the society may retain such amount that is necessary to meet his membership, in full or in part, from the proceeds of such sales with the consent of the producer and
- (b) after settling his proceeds in full, subject to recovery as stated above, should be admitted as a member.

Those who Prompt others
To breach Agreements.

- 23 (1) In the event where an outside party has agreed to sell his produce through a registered society under sentence 21 or has been bound by an order issued under sentence 22, it is an offense for any person, having the knowledge of such arrangement, to prompt or persuade that person to dispose his produce through an alternative source by breaching that agreement or by disobeying that order. In such an event if and when that person is found guilty of that offense in a summary trial by a Magistrate Court, he should be subject to a fine not exceeding rupees five thousand.
- (2) In the event where the offense stated in clause (1) above in this article has been committed by a corporate body, every member of the Board of Directors and officers of that corporate body at the time the offense was committed is considered guilty of that same offense unless they prove that they were not aware of that arrangement or have taken every possible precaution in their capacity to prevent that offense from being taking place.

Transferring
The rights & obligations of a deceased member

- 24 (1) In the event of the death of a member of a registered society, the society could transfer the share and other relevant relationships to a person nominated by the member in keeping with the rules of this precept, and where no such member has been nominated the society could transfer to a person, who the society in the opinion of its executive committee, consider to be the legitimate heir of that member. On the other hand, the society could also pay to either the nominated party or to the inheritor according to the rules of the constitution, an amount equivalent to the value of shares and other relevant relationships of the member. However,
- (a) In the case of an Unlimited society, either the nominated person or the heir of the deceased member could claim in cash, an amount determined as equivalent to the value of share and other affairs connected of the deceased member.
- (b) In the case of a society registered as limited, the society could within 6 months of the death of the particular member could transfer the share and other connected affairs of the deceased member in keeping with the rules of the precept and the constitution of the society, to a nominated person, to a heir or to a person as detailed in a request made by the member.

- (2) A registered society, should settle all other monies due to the deceased member to the nominated person, to the heir or to an appointed agent.
 - (3) All payments and transfers made by the registered society upon the death of a member and in keeping with the provisions of this article, should overpower any other claim made by another person who makes a claim against the deceased member's estate.
- 25 (1) (a) It is the responsibility of the executive committee of every registered society to maintain an updated membership register, in keeping with the rules of the precept and of the provisions in the constitution of the society. Register of members.
- (b) The subject register should contain the following details.

43. (1) Consequent to an examination, or an investigation on books carried out as per article 41 of the precept, if the Registrar is of the opinion that a particular member or members of the executive committee or the executive committee as a whole, is not discharging his/her/their duties as they should, the registrar should proceed to remove the member/members or to dissolve the executive committee. However, if there are objections from a member, members or the subject executive committee on the proposed removal, the registrar, after having offered time for such objections, should convene a meeting of the general body of the society in keeping with the rules and regulations of the constitution and the precept. If the investigation was conducted by the registrar he may summon a general body or on the other hand if the investigation was conducted by the executive committee or the membership, a meeting summoned with the consent of 1/3rd of the membership and reveal the findings of the investigation and express his opinion on the issues involved to the general membership :

the executive committee

- (a) Accordingly, the general meeting should remove the member or members of the executive committee who have been found guilty at that meeting and take necessary steps in keeping with the constitution to fill the vacancies so created with members from among the members other than the ones removed,
- (b) In a situation where the executive committee becomes invalid as in clause (1) above, the membership could dissolve the executive committee and appoint a new Executive committee comprising of persons not served in the previous committee.

However, if the general membership is not taking action to remove member found guilty and appoint new members, the Registrar should order the removal of guilty members and appoint new members. On occasions where the executive committee ceases to function the Registrar could appoint an administrative body to administer the society. An administrative body that is so appointed should have all the powers, as per the constitution, of the general membership.

- (c) As a consequence of an examination or an investigation on books of accounts of a registered society carried out as per article 41, if the registrar forms the opinion that the executive committee in its entirety, is not performing as it should, the registrar, having offered time for the executive committee to give reasons as to why the committee should not be dissolved, should proceed to call a general meeting as per the rules and regulations and reveal the findings of the examination and the opinion formed by him and notify the general body to appoint to replace the subject executive committee with an alternative executive committee. However, when the general body does not act to appoint a new executive committee the registrar has the power to appoint an Administrative Board to take the affairs of the society forward. The official period of a Board or Committee so appointed will be in accordance with the provisions of article 43 (2).

- (d) The executive committee members so removed from office as per article 43.(1) (a), 43.(1) (b), 43.(1)(c), shall not be entitled to hold office or to be appointed to an office in any corporative society for a period of seven years.
- (e) (i) If an executive committee member is removed from a motion of no confidence in a general meeting of a registered society such members should not be entitled to hold, to be elected or to be appointed to any office of a registered society for a period of 7 years.
- (ii) Similarly when an executive committee member or members have been found guilty after an examination or an investigation under article 41, the registrar has powers to make an order on the accusations. If such an order is to be announced the registrar should grant an opportunity to the accused person or persons to give reasons as to why such an order should not be issued. Accordingly, an executive committee member found guilty of misconduct is not permitted to hold office, to be elected to office or to be appointed to an office for 7 years from the date of issuing such an order. Further if such person or persons are currently holding other office, they will cease to hold such office by reason of this order.
- (f) An Executive committee member removed from office due to a financial misappropriation as per (a),(b),(c) or (e) (i) &(ii) above, is not entitle to hold office or to be elected or appointed to an office in any registered society. The names of such persons should be entered in the blacklisted register and Gazetted every year and also, should be included in the Corporative Society's website by the registrar.
- (2) (a) The executive committee, person or persons, appointed as per articles (1) (a) and (b) above should function in that capacity till the end of the time period of the Current executive committee he/they composed.
- (b) While the executive committee so appointed under such circumstances have a period as mentioned in (2) (a) above, they should enjoy all the power, rights and privileges just as an executive committee duly appointed.
- (3) The executive committee, person or persons, appointed as per articles (1) (a) and (b) above should exercise all the power, rights and privileges just as an executive committee duly appointed.
- (4) If a person or a body of persons appointed as a result of circumstances described in 43(1) (a) and (b), causes a loss to the society by conducting in violation of the rules of the precept and the constitution of the society such persons are individually and severally responsible for the losses caused to the society.
- (5) A person or a body of persons appointed to take charge of the management of a society under this article and whose period expires as detailed in article 43.(2) (a) above, is responsible for ensuring the appointment of a new executive committee to take over the affairs of the society as per the rules of the constitution of the society.
- (6) In considering the contents of this article it should not be presumed that the activities described herein should have any bearing on the powers vested in the Registrar to cancel the registration of a registered society as per article 45.

- (7) In the event where an executive committee of a registered society has become inactive, and as a result, if the general body at a duly summoned general meeting, passes a resolution to request the registrar to appoint an administrative body to manage the society's affairs and makes a request to the registrar accordingly, the registrar is empowered to appoint an administrative board comprising not less than 3 persons. The Administrative board so appointed should function in keeping with the provisions in article 43. (2) (a) and the registrar has the power to name the Chairman and the Deputy Chairman or both, as the case may be, in such an instance.

9TH CHAPTER

Dissolution of an Executive Committee of a Registered Society

44. (1) As a result of an examination or an investigation into the books of accounts of a registered society as per article 41(1) or due to any other reason, having received a request from 2/3rds of the general membership for dissolution of the society, and also having afforded time for objections against the requested dissolution by the members and creditors of the society, if the registrar is of the opinion that the particular society should be dissolved, the registrar by an order under his signature could dissolve the society. Dissolution
- (2) Upon the issue of an order as in clause (1) above, a member, or a creditor, of the subject society could appeal to the Minister within 60 days of the date of issue of that order. Upon receiving such an appeal, the Minister is bound to make a ruling on that appeal within 60 days of the receipt of that appeal.
- (3) When an order is issued cancelling the registration of a society, that order becomes effective within 60 days of such issue in the absence of an appeal made against that order. In the event of an appeal against that order, that order does not become effective until the order is duly confirmed.
- (4) When an order is made cancelling the registration of a society under article 44(1) above, the Registrar could appoint one or more persons to be in charge of the books and affairs of the society, until, either that order becomes effective or that order is confirmed/ not confirmed by the minister in case of an appeal against that order. In such an event the executive committee or the person in charge of books and registers should hand over all such matters to the person or persons appointed by the registrar and thereafter, until the order becomes effective or otherwise, as the case may be, the executive committee should remain inactive.
45. Other than under the circumstances detailed in article 44 above, the registrar may cancel the registration of a registered society when one or many of the following situations exist with regard to a registered society in the manner describe therein. Further, the registrar may not be bound by any claims made by any party against the subject society after the registration is effectively cancelled. Cancelling the Registration of a society
- (a) When it is a condition for registration that the society should have at least 20 members for the society to register and when the number of members falls below 20, the society automatically becomes unregistered.

- (b) When a registered society has not commenced its activities after one year of its registration or when it has been inactive for two years up to the date before the order of cancellation is issued under this article. In this situation the registrar may cancel the registration by issuing an order in writing.
- (c) When no person, member or executive committee member appears on behalf of a registered society to claim ownership for the books, registers or any other matter that is available. In this situation the registrar may cancel the registration by making a gazette notification after giving a 3 months period through a public press advertisement. Further, the Registrar should not be bound by any claim made against a society once its registration is canceled.
- (d) Also, in situations when :
 - (i) there is obstructions to a person appointed by the Commissioner for the purpose of inspecting the books of accounts of the registered society,
 - (ii) there is obstructions for holding executive committee or general meetings of the society,
 - (iii) the annual audit is not updated as it should,
 - (iv) the responsibilities as regards the society's depositors are not discharged properly,
 - (v) there is a request made to the registrar by not less than 2/3rds of the society's general membership.

the registrar in his own conviction has power to seek the recommendation of the Minister to obtain a ruling from the Provincial Board of Ministers, to either incorporate the subject society in to another registered society, to cancel the registration of the society or to strike the society off the registration list of the Corporative department. Having obtained the ruling the subject society should be either incorporated in to another registered society, undergo a cancellation of its registration or face a striking off from the registration list of the Corporative department, depending on the ruling of the Board of Ministers.

The effect Cancelling the registration

46. When the registration of a registered society is cancelled as per the provisions of article 44 or article 45, that society, from the date that cancellation becomes effective, hereinafter known as the 'Dissolution date' should cease to function as a corporation.

However, it should be noted that the registrar as per this precept or as per other legal provisions, has incorporated the privileges of the society to a Liquidator or to Liquidators, appointed on behalf of the society.

Liquidation of

 - (f) between a present/former employee/Officer/employee/a heir or an agent of a deceased member/officer/employee Vs the society where the society has to recover a loan granted or a loss suffered, whether such recovery is accepted or not, as defined by this sub article.
- (2) The Registrar, having received a reference under clause (1)
- (a) may settle the dispute on his own accord or
 - (b) may refer to an arbitrator or arbitrators to do as suitable.

Resolution
Of disputes

- (3) (a) A party that is not satisfied with the ruling of the arbitrator or arbitrators can make an appeal to the registrar against that ruling. Such an appeal to the registrar should be made within 60 days of the issuance of that ruling, with reasons in writing as to why that party is not satisfied with the ruling. If such an appeal is made by an accused in a decisive case against a ruling given against him/her, 10% of the amount so ruled and if the appeal is made by the complainant, 10% of the amount demanded in a decisive case should be sent along with the appeal. However, the amount so required to be submitted as a deposit for an appeal, by one party or the other, should not be less than Rs. 1000/ and should not be more than Rs. 50,000/.
- (b) The registrar should decline any appeal not made in compliance with sub article 3(a) above.
- (4) A party that has made an appeal to the registrar under clause (3) above may make a request and obtain permission to present him/her self before the registrar through an agent and make a presentation on the dispute to the registrar.
- (5) The registrar's ruling under either clause (2) or clause (3) of this article should be final and it should not be questioned in a Civil Court of law.
- (6) If no appeal is made to the registrar as per sub article (3) above against the ruling issued by an arbitrator as per sub article (2) above, or if such facility to appeal is renounced or withdrawn, the ruling issued should be final and it may not be questioned in a Civil Court of law.
- (7) Provisions of the Statute barred ordinance should not be applicable to a claim which is the subject of a dispute under this article.
- (8) If a doubt surfaces as to whether the dispute referred to the registrar is a dispute on trade and industry of the particular society, the ruling of the registrar on the matter will be final and it may not be questioned in a Civil Court of law.
- (9) The term 'Member' under this article may include Associate members as well.
- (10) As per this article the registrar and the umpire appointed to arbitrate should be defined as a public servant as per the Penal code.

Executing a decision or a directive

- 54 (1) If no appeal is made against a ruling (hereinafter referred to as 'the ruling') made either by the registrar or by an arbitrator on matters duly referred to them under article 53 and if no appeal is duly made to the registrar against that ruling as provided in the article, known as a ruling and the conclusion in such ruling involves payment of money from one party to the other and in a situation where such payment together with the fees and interests is not paid, the registrar, having termed that party who has not paid as the 'Evader' as per this article and may subject that party to,
 - (a) an issuance of a certificate to a District Courts that has jurisdiction over the district that the 'evader' is either residing or has immobile and mobile property, giving the name of the evader together with particulars of monies due, having added the interest and charges if any.
 - (b) an issuance of a certificate, giving the name and address of the evader and particulars of the monies due, to a Magistrate of a division that has jurisdiction over the last known place of residence or place of business of the evader.

- (2) In an instance where a certificate has been issued to a District Court as in clause (1) paragraph (a) of the article, the District Court, having received that certificate and in order to recover the dues stated in the certificate, should be directed to issue a writ of the Court (askeesi) to the Fiscal officer empowering him/her to seize the whole, or part, of the evaders mobile and immobile property, or a portion that the Fiscal officer considers to be adequate to recover the stated amount. In disposing the property so seized article No's from No. 226 to 297 of the Civil Procedure Code may be invoke as relevant with suitable alterations.
- (3) In an instance where a certificate has been issued to a Magistrate as in paragraph (b) in clause (1) above, the magistrate, having received that certificate and in order to recover the dues stated in the certificate, should summon the evader before him/her to ascertain reasons as to why further action should not be taken against the evader to recover the dues. If the evader fails to forward satisfactory reasons the Magistrate in a situation where it could not be penalised by a term of imprisonment but only a by a fine, may penalise the evader for an offence that could be penalised only by imposing a fine. In this, the provisions of the article 291 of Criminal Procedure Code No. 15 of 1979 (except its paragraphs (a) and (b) of clause No. (1) should be relevant and the Magistrate could make an order within his powers at the time such criminal punishment is imposed. When the evader agrees to pay a fine in place of the dues, the Magistrate may order the evader to pay by depositing funds to an account specified by the Registrar or in any other manner and when the legitimacy of the receipt is established, a directive may be issued by the magistrate treating the monies as being paid to the courts.
- (4) An evader punished with imprisonment for not paying a fine as per article 291 of the Criminal procedure code No.15 of 1979 may not be discharged for paying an amount of money specified in the certificate as per article 54(1)(b)
- (5) The Registrar, when issuing a certificate under this article, by sending that message, personally, by registered post or by telegram, has to ensure that the message reaches the evader. Yet, the non-receipt of that message by the evader is not a reason to do away with the legal provisions available under this article.
- (6) On legal matters and provisions under this article, a District court or a Magistrate should have no powers to, question the veracity, examine the truthfulness and to sit on judgement on the certificated issue and the statements made by the registrar.
- (7) Monies collected by sale under clause (2) or collected on account of a fines paid or recovered under clause (3) should, be remitted to the Registrar by the District Courts or the Magistrate. The registrar may appropriate the money as directed by the rules and orders of the situation.

Special Provisions relevant to Registered Societies.

- 55 (1) When an application for membership of a registered society by a prospective member is declined by that society, that prospective member may make an appeal to the Registrar against that rejection. The registrar may decide on that appeal within 60 days of receiving that appeal and that decision should be final for all intends and purposes and the subject society is bound to act accordingly.

other matters registrar has to decide on

- (2) When an issue crops up as to whether a member of a registered society has been appointed to a particular office of the registered society duly, whether a particular officer of the society has ceased to function in that capacity, whether the executive committee meetings and the general meetings of the society have been held duly or on any other similar administrative matter, the registrar should give a ruling on all such matters and the decision of the registrar should be considered as final.

conditions

56. When a registered society, obtains an advance, loan or a grant from the Government or From the Provincial Government, or obtains such facility from a government institution or a Government associated institution with the recommendation of the registrar, or obtains any other similar grant, loan or an advance such receipts should be subject to the following conditions.

Suspension
Of officers
& employees
and terminations

- (1) When it is required for a registered society, in order to achieve its stated objectives, to possess a building, land or any other mobile or immobile property by way of, a purchase, a lease, a gift, or in any other way, or similarly when it is necessary to dispossess a land, building or any other property by way of sale, lease, mortgage, in exchange, or in any other way, the prior approval of the registrar should be obtained in writing by that society.
- (2) (a) if a member, who is found guilty under article 41 where, an examination is made in to the affairs of the society, or where an investigation was done in to the books of accounts, or who is expelled or suspended under clause (2) of article 40, has been re-elected in a subsequent period since the above examinations/enquiries/ investigations were concluded, such member should be removed from office as, he/ she is not permitted to hold office for a period of seven years. Similarly. a member on whom a decision has been made under articles 43(1)(a) or 43(1)(b) is not entitled to hold office in any corporative society.
- (b) If an officer of a registered society, in the opinion of the registrar, is found to be not performing his/her duty as he/she should or as efficiently and productively as required, or found wanting in duty in any other way under an inspection or an investigation done under article 41, irrespective of what is stated in this precept or in any other written law, that officer may be suspended from his post by a written directive, pending an inquiry, after having afforded time for that officer to submit reasons in his defence. If the officer is found guilty at the investigation mentioned that officer cannot present himself for election to any office in a registered corporative society. Further such an officer is ineligible to be appointed to any office of a registered society within 7 years from the date that officer is removed from office.
- (c) If an officer of a registered society, in the opinion of the registrar, is found to be not performing his/her duty as he/her should or as efficiently and productively as required or found wanting in duty in any other way under an inspection or an investigation done under article 41, irrespective of what is stated in this precept or in any other written law, that officer may be suspended from his post by a written order, pending an inquiry, after having afforded time for that officer to submit reasons in his defence. If the officer is found guilty at the investigation mentioned that officer cannot present himself for election to any office in a registered corporative society. Further such an officer may not be appointed to any office of a registered society within 7 years from the date that officer is removed from office. However, if the subject officer is not satisfied with the investigation that resulted in his removal from office, the officer concerned may make an appeal to the Sothern Province Cooperative Commission within 30 days of that removal. In such a situation the ruling given by the Southern Provincial Cooperative Commissioner should be final.

57. If the Registrar is of the opinion that the management of a particular registered society requires some additional adequacy as to its capacity to ensure the protection of its depositor's deposits, the rights of its members, the security of the investments and deposits made by the government/ the Provincial Government or the deposits made in goods and trade arrangements, and therefore forms the opinion that more members need to be nominated to the society's executive committee, the registrar may so appoint a number of members that he considers is necessary. However, this should be subject to the rule that the number of members in the executive committee should be less than half the number of members in the society. The registrar also has powers to appoint the Chairman and the Deputy Chairman or both to the executive committee and when that happens the members who presently function in those capacities may cease to function by virtue of those appointments. Thus, irrespective of whatever is mentioned in written law, after such appointments are made, the quorum of the executive committee should be any number more than half the number in the executive committee (including the number appointed).

- 65 (1). In the event of, an audit under article 39, an examination under article 41, an investigation in to the books of accounts or on a closure of books of accounts at a liquidation of a registered society, if it could be observed that certain monies or assets are due to the society from a person or a group of persons, a current officer/employee or an ex officer/employee, who had been engaged in the formation or in the management of that registered society, due to the use of society funds in violation of the provisions of, either this precept or any other precept, or rules enacted under such provisions, or as per the provisions of the constitution of the society, or the executive orders of the society, or the financial regulations sanctioned by the registrar or the common provisions issued by the registrar or by the Corporative Employees Commission, the Registrar, upon a request made either by himself/herself, the executive committee, a member, a creditor, the liquidator or a contributor, should inquire in to the conduct of such person/ group of persons and order as appropriate to;
- (a) recover the full amount or a part of it together with an interest element the registrar may consider appropriate,
- (b) reposes such property or part of it to the society, or
- (c) contribute an amount of money determined to be sufficient as compensation towards the assets of the society.

However, before such an order is issued, the registrar should offer some reasonable time to the person or group of persons so alleged to furnish reasons as to why such an order should not be issued against them. If that member is an employee, the executive committee could order the termination of his services.

- (2) In the event where an order has been made under clause (1) above to recover certain monies or to make a contribution as compensation towards the assets of the registered society, and when such order has been disregarded an application may be made with a certificate as per article 54(1)(a) of this precept to a Magistrate in whose purview the place of business of the society is registered or in case when the order is made against a person, a group of persons, an officer or an employee, the area where that person or that group of persons, that officer or employee resides. Thereafter, that amount may be recovered by way of a fine imposed on that person, group of persons, officer or employee as a punishment for an offence not liable to be punished by a term of imprisonment but by an offence liable to be punished by imposing a fine. This recovery should be in line with the article 291 (except its (a) and (c) paragraphs of clause (1)). Further, the Magistrate may also execute any other order relevant to this punishment at the time of imposing this fine. However, the provision in this article may not bestow any right or power on the Magistrate to examine, verify or judge the legitimacy or the appropriateness of the registrar's action with regard to this recovery.

- (3) The contents of this article however should not be interpreted to mean or imply that a person or group of persons encountered under clause (1) above, stands exonerated of all other legal action brought against him/her/them under a different provision in law, simply because an order has been made under this provision.
